

This is my new nominee. You can't lock him up for 72 hours of observation!

But he is clearly a danger to himself and others.

But all my nominees support torture, child abuse, and destruction of all species of life and oppose the Constitution and the Geneva Conventions.

But judge, she was only 30 seconds late for class. We usually just give students a note for their parents when they are late.

You can't trust a little girl to tell the truth about who she is and who her parents are. Officer, cuff her and take her away to jail. On second thought, turn her over to Homeland Security as an "enemy combatant."

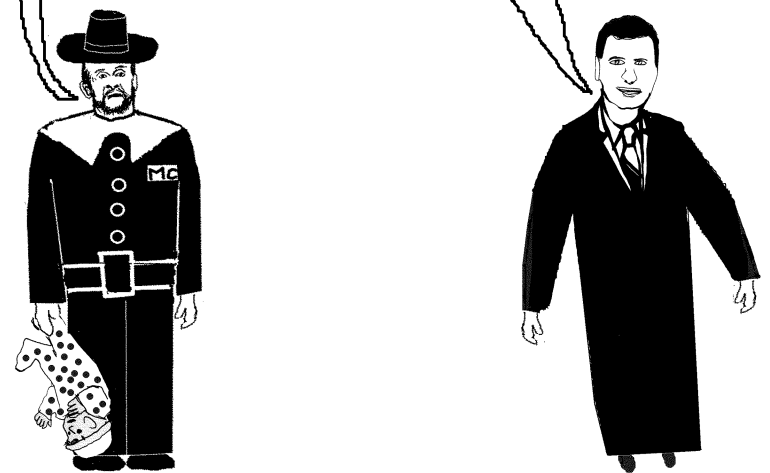

By the time she sees her parents, she'll be an adult. And bring in my friends from Gitmo to question her.

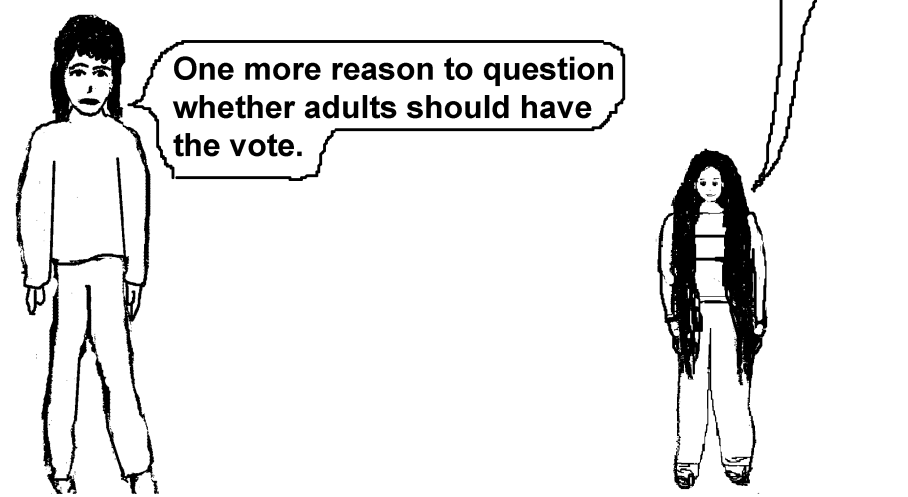

In today's America, kids get worse abuse than adults and none of the rights of adults. If my generation had the vote, this guy wouldn't be heading for the Supreme Court.

Under 102 of the Real Death Camp Act, I can waive any law I want. So, I've decided to eliminate all of these little things.

Let's see. Adults are planning a nuclear waste repository in an inactive volcano, on top of a major earthquake fault, above an aquifer and ground water that flows directly into California's water supply. The safety reports were faked and they know and don't care. Can you imagine our generation allowing that to happen if we were running the country?

One more reason to question whether adults should have the vote.
