

But he said bomb.

No. He said, "Calm down."

Bomb and calm sound a lot alike. Anyone could make that mistake.

Well the gangs are offering to turn in all their guns if I save Tookie. And there are rumors of riots if I kill Tookie. So it's peace if I don't terminate him and L.A. goes up in flames if I do. Hard decision.

80% of Californians favor a moratorium on the death penalty. The only ones who want him killed are the people who told you to call that special election.

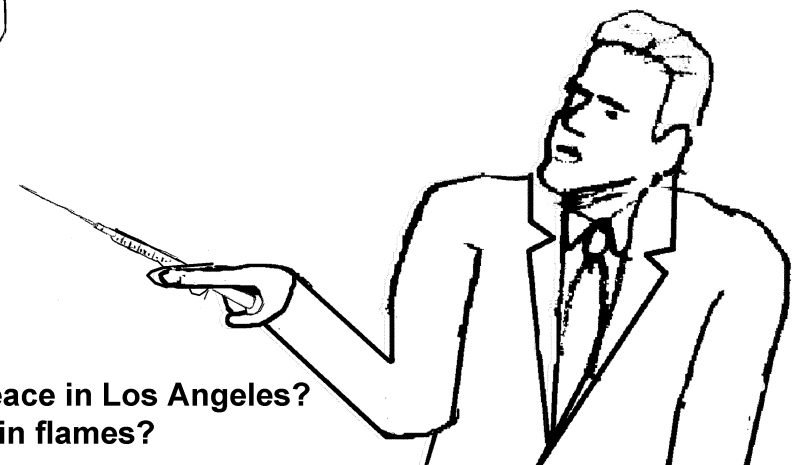

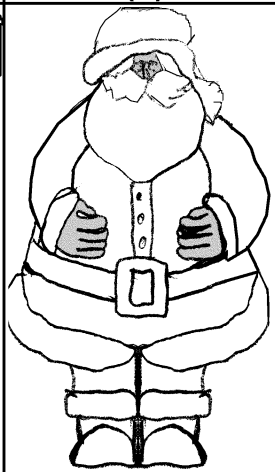

With the main witness admitting he lied, there is more evidence that Tookie is Santa Claus than of guilt. Tookie has saved so many thousands of lives and has helped children and their families across the world with his works. Perhaps he really is Santa, and you wouldn't want to kill Santa just before Christmas.

Well, once when I was a kid, Santa brought me the wrong present. It's a hard decision.

Will Arnold terminate Santa Claus?
What will happen to Christmas?

Will there be peace in Los Angeles?
Or will it go up in flames?
