

Capitol Chaos

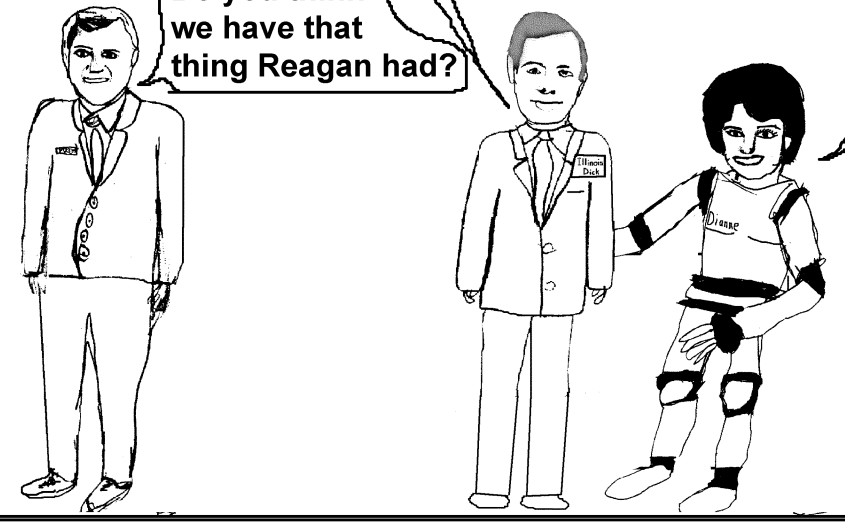

Halt! I'm supposed to stop all thinking people from entering. I'm already in trouble for failing to stop Dennis and Maxine.

I can't remember where the judiciary hearing room is. I'm told that the most important hearing of our careers is taking place, but I can't remember what it's about or where that room is.

I can't recall either.

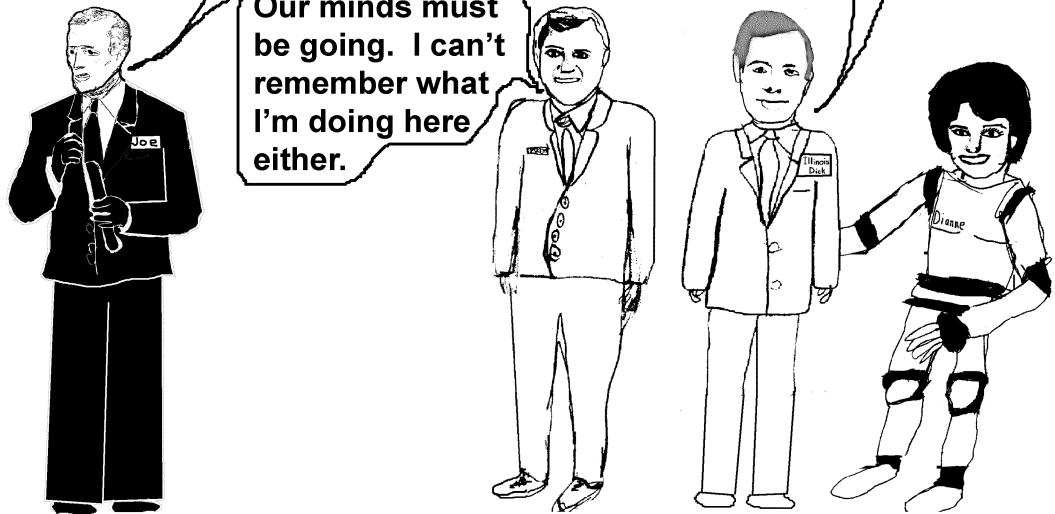

Do you think we have that thing Reagan had?

Joe, that is your name isn't it? There is a hearing we are supposed to attend somewhere and we don't know where it is.

I don't even know why I'm in Washington. How am I supposed to know?

Our minds must be going. I can't remember what I'm doing here either.

Here's a map to the judiciary hearing but the hearing finished a long time ago.

Oh, well. Maybe we can find some executions to attend.

The AMA has called them off. They claim they are immoral and barbaric.

But I love death. My husband makes a lot of money off of death.
